A few words to express my joy for having read an interesting book L'Induismo Dalle Rive del Gange HINDUISM FROM THE SHORES OF GANGA. The contents of this book made me to understand deeply how material as well as spiritual life in Hinduism are interwoven in daily life. I am sure this book is a guide to westerners and non hindus to understand that it is not difficult to lead a balanced and perfect life living in ones own family and society surrounded by. I would like to thank Jaya Murthy for sharing rich indian culture, tradtion, religion among us. I am also certain that this book could be a guide to understand what hinduism teaches also for indians especially to youngsters who lead a frenetic life. I hope English version of this book will come out to reach many interesting readers outside Italy. I really appreciate Italian Angela Fiorentini for making the book rich with her thought provoking questions.
